Market entry strategy
Assess market demand across a wide range of industry sectors with internationally comparable market sizes, company shares, brands shares, retail distribution, pricing and product positioning statistics. Examine the drivers and constraints on industry growth using forecasts and forward-looking analysis.

» How big is the market?
» How is it forecast to grow in the next 5 years?
» What is influencing demand?

SWOT analysis
Benchmark industry and company performance against “best in class” to identify where growth will come from and commercial threats. Track and anticipate changes in the competitive landscape by evaluating strategies making companies successful.

» Which companies have the biggest market share
» Which categories, market and channels are performing well?
» Which new markets offer the best growth opportunities?
Economic insight
Be aware of how economies are structured, key economic drivers and the barriers to successful trade. Evaluate macro-economic trends such as employment, inflation and urbanisation and analyse how they impact growth.

» How is the economy performing?
» How educated and productive is the workforce?
» What is the impact of immigration and emigration?

Trend monitoring
Learn from successes in other countries by monitoring emerging industry and consumer trends. Assess the consequences of big industry events, such as company mergers, new product launches or regulatory issues to spot opportunities.

» What is the story behind consumer attitudes and behaviour?
» Which marketing, packaging and pricing strategies are successful?
» What can I learn from successes in other sectors?

Political, economic, social, technological (PEST) analysis
Understand the wider business environment, the ease of doing business, technological challenges and the political and economic risks associated with investing in new country markets.

» How easy is it to do business?
» What is the country infrastructure like?
» What are the barriers to successful trade?

Consumer segmentation
Analyse demographics, incomes, lifestyles, attitudes and opinions to become an expert on your target audience, Recognise what influences behaviour and how it differs across nations.

» What is the size of the target audience?
» What does a typical family and household look like?
» Are there cultural preferences to be aware of?
